Raymond Lacoste

Raymond Lacoste is a Cisco Certified Systems Instructor (CCSI) who has dedicated his career to teaching others. For fifteen years he has been teaching and guiding others in the world of IT. Starting out as a Mentor at Skillsoft, he helped students with their studies, explaining various Cisco, Microsoft and industry-related concepts in ways that improved the students understanding. Now he spends his days at Skillsoft teaching the CCNA and CCNP Routing and Switching track. He has taught over 150 Cisco classes in addition to the countless practice labs, demonstrations, hands-on labs and Student Guides he has developed to complement the classes. However, it's not just about teaching, it's also about learning. To date Raymond has passed over 100 IT certification exams as he continues to keep his learning and knowledge up to date. His certification wall includes various Cisco certifications, Microsoft certifications, CompTIA certifications and the ISC2 CISSP (Certified Information Systems Security Professional) designation. He is the author of the Cisco CCNP TSHOOT 300-135 Official Cert Guide. He was also awarded the Cisco Sirius Top Quality Instructor award in 2013 and 2014.

Dan Young

Dan Young has served as a Cisco Certified Systems Instructor (CCSI) in Cisco Systems training since 2001. He achieved his Cisco Certified Internet Expert (CCIE #11322) certification in Routing and Switching in the year 2003. Having taught over 400 Cisco ILT classes, primary in the area of CCNA and CCNP, Dan honed his delivery of complex Cisco topics. Now a CCIE Emeritus, Dan manages a team of Cisco, Microsoft, VMware and PMI instructors. He still maintains his passion for the instruction of IT topics, his favorite of which are Cisco routing and switching.
